Garey: Since 2♣ was game force, seems interesting that North didn't show his diamonds, since ace of spades and 4 or 5 diamonds to the queen would make an easy slam. Might this be a hand where North knew his partner had a bad hand? There is nothing on their convention card regarding responses to 2♣ opening.

32) Interesting takeout double with South's hand. If partner jumped to 4H would 4NT be pick a minor. I don't think so. Seems he could have started with 2NT or even 4NT. Guess he had safety if his partner knew he had a singleton heart. No IMP loss, but it becomes a problem when opponent are doing funny things and always get final contracts right.
